Southwestern Pennsylvania Chambers of Commerce
Urge Action on Transportation Infrastructure

(SOUTHWESTERN PENNSYLVANIA – Nov. 7, 2011) The declining state of the Commonwealth's transportation infrastructure is a problem that the business community in Southwestern Pennsylvania believes should be dealt with immediately. The Greater Pittsburgh Regional Advocacy Coalition of Chambers (RACC) supports the recommendations included in the Transportation Funding Advisory Commission's report, and urges the Governor to take action on the report recommendations this fall.

The Greater Pittsburgh Regional Advocacy Coalition of Chambers is an alliance of local chambers of commerce throughout southwestern Pennsylvania. The purpose of the RACC is to come together and speak with one voice on issues that are important to the common interest of the region's business community.

The coalition met on October 27, 2011 to discuss regional public policy issues, and it was clear that one issue arose as an immediate priority for this fall for all – investment in Pennsylvania's transportation infrastructure.

- Transportation funding creates jobs, with engineering and design jobs immediately, leading to both construction jobs and manufacturing jobs throughout the construction supply chain.
- At the end of a project, there is a transportation improvement that improves the economic competitiveness of the Commonwealth and leads to economic growth and more jobs.
- Robust transit networks, particularly in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, will help drive the metro regions that provide most of the Commonwealth's economic activity.

The RACC believes that funding transportation investments through a series of user fees, as the Commission recommends, is particularly well timed as the economy struggles to recover. The Commission recommendations provide a realistic and achievable framework at the appropriate scale – $2.7 billion per year, with $400 million for mass transit. Business groups from across the state support moving forward with the package of recommendations.

While the Commission's recommendations provide much needed infrastructure funding and provide a short-term fix, the recommendations are still short of the current $3.5 billion per year of unmet needs, and in 2020, this unmet need will be nearly $7.2 billion.

The business leaders of the Commonwealth recognize the transportation issues we have and the feedback we have received shows significant support for a solution. There will be an economic price to pay for inaction, as a dated transportation system makes Pennsylvania less competitive. We believe that our state government should focus not only on repairing and maintaining the existing infrastructure, but also on providing for "new capacity" projects that will further help economic development in the Commonwealth.

It is for those reasons that this issue is the number one shared public policy priority this fall for the Greater Pittsburgh Regional Advocacy Coalition of Chambers. On behalf of all of our large and small business members, we urge the Governor to act now on the recommendations offered by the Transportation Funding Advisory Commission, and we stand ready to assist in any way possible to help secure its passage by the legislature.
